How long have you worked for the city:

Six years.

Where did you work before joining the city:

City of Avondale.

What do you do:

As the Chief Building Official, I am tasked first with the adoption and implementation of the life safety construction codes. Second, to provide direction and support to a dynamic team of building safety professionals. And third, to provide assistance in resolving complex issues that arise throughout the course of building construction.

Favorite thing about working for the city:

Daily participation in the transformation of our community that is rapidly and thoughtfully expanding.

Favorite core value:

Optimism is a great core value and it is a fresh start each day. Optimism fosters joy and the opportunity to make each day a great experience.
